Creative Writing	Science	Creative Curriculum
Myths and Legends!  This week you are going to write your own myth about one of Hercules' battles. You can either choose an existing one or create your own monster for him to fight!  1 — Choose/ create your monster. Research some of the monsters Hercules fought and choose one you will write about OR use your research to draw and label one of your own. Write a paragraph describing your chosen monster's appearance and abilities (these will be important details for during the fight)  2 — Map out your story (using the map we've uploaded) you will need to plan the setting, characters, your beginning, middle and ending). Will you use lots of descriptive techniques? Tension? Etc.  3 — Setting and character description. Open your story by introducing Hercules and writing a description of the setting, think about what Hercules will hear, see, feel, what he looks like/ is wearing etc. Use the senses to add to your description.  4 — The big battle! Now that you've introduced Hercules and described the setting, it's time to write up the battle and ending.  5 — Editing, read through your writing, underline any words need to check the spelling of and/or could uplevel and use footnotes to edit. Or if you're working on a computer, change the colour of anything you've edited to purple.	Plants  As the weather is getting better, now is great time to find some new hobbies/ pass times. One fabulous pass time is gardening. For our science task this week, we will be having a look at becoming gardeners!  Your task:  - Choose the plant you want to grow - Draw and label a diagram - Choose where you will grow it (in a pot or in the garden) - Research how to care for it - Research and draw it's life cycle - Take progress pictures of your plant growing- you could even turn this into a scrapbook-like poster - Write an information page on your plant using all of the information you've found. Including: background information on it, how to plant it, how to care for it - Send us in pictures of you and your plants!	As with many stories that have been passed down through time, Hercules (or Heracles) has many different versions.  One of the most common versions is the 12 labours of Hercules (or Heracles). Your task is to research the story and create a comic strip retelling it. The website below might help:  https://greece.mrdonn.org/greekgods/hercules.html  Here's an example of what your comic strip could look like:
MyMaths	Computing	Mindfulness
You have daily MyMaths lessons to access. Each activity has a short lesson before it to model how to use each skill. There are also some great games to have a go at.	How do you know if you can trust a website?  https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/articles/zq39vwx	Make your own Calm Box  The purpose of a calm box is that the contents are things that help to calm us down when we feel stressed or upset.  This could be stress to do with work, to do with friendships, when you feel upset without really knowing why anything!
Remember: there is a new task assigned daily and they have a deadline! We will be checking to see who has been completing these.	Use the information on the website above to write an information page explaining how to spot genuine websites and how to spot ones that are potentially unsafe.  Don't forget to update the blogs on Purple Mash too!	It's there whenever you need it! You could put in:  - Things with calming smells  - Things you enjoy doing (colouring, reading etc.)  - Soft toys/ clothes you enjoy when you're feeling down - Maybe some edible treats (chocolate) etc.
