Alexander the Great

Alexander the great was brought up by his mother and father who ruled Greece and a southern part of Europe. He was named this by the Romans who admired him. He wanted to be the first Greek to conquer the entire known world. His ability to dream, plan and strategize on a large scale allowed him to win many battles, even when he was outnumbered. It also helped motivate his men, who knew they were part of one of the greatest conquests in history. Abernethy went on to say 'Alexander could be inspiring and courageous he never lost a battle and he had no trouble integrating conquered warriors into his army'. His parents ruled 2300 years ago. His teacher was one of the great philosopher's in Greece of all times.

At 20 years of age Alexander the great was finally crowned King and had many ideas waiting for him and his guests. Alexander's success as a general was based on organization, abundant supplies, professional and tactile leadership, a high degree of military intelligence before battles, 'modern arms' and most of the armies Alexander went up against were second rate or lead by stiffs, bozos and clowns. But soon enough they left for the conquest of Asia and they fought at very tight formations. As they were approaching they were spotted and the Macedonian soldiers were absolutely terrified.

They went to their leader and told him there was Alexander the Great and his 30,000 men. The leader exclaimed to them that they had 3 times as more army as them. As they were on their way they came against Midas's, gold rope but in one slash with his sword Alexander the Great cut the knot in the middle. Many emperors's tried to unknot the knot but were unsuccessful. Alexander defeated the army as well as fighting Alexander the great made some alliances with the countries he defeated. He then went on another journey.

Alexander the great was crowned pharaoh of Egypt. Then he attacked India but his soldiers were tired of fighting and rejected to fight. Not long after Alexander the great sadly died at a young age of 33. He reined countries for 11 years.
